EMERGING INFECTIOUS DISEASES ASIA 2014
12-14 November 2014, The Royal Orchid Sheraton Hotel & Towers, Bangkok, Thailand

SECOND CIRCULAR AND PROVISIONAL CONFERENCE PROGRAMME FOR EID ASIA 2014

Pathogenesis · Epidemiology · Interventions

EID ASIA 2014 aims to bring together individuals who are carrying out research on emerging pathogens and decision makers shaping the future of infectious disease research, recognizing that emerging infectious diseases serve as a paradigm for handling the public threat of bioterrorism and spread of new diseases.

This meeting is intended for scientists, public health researchers, biopharmaceutical manufacturers and policy makers who need to be informed about the latest scientific developments. The meeting will include a series of keynote addresses by leaders in the field of emerging diseases and short presentation/poster sessions presenting up-to-the-minute cutting-edge research on pathogenic agents, vaccines and other interventions, detection and diagnostic procedures, animal and plant pathogens, global surveillance and other vital topics.
